Combating antimicrobial resistance (AMR)

As a musician, I use music to advocate for social change, because I know people pay attention to what I’m saying in my songs. I have decided to sing about tuberculosis (TB), because TB has made my family smaller than it used to be. I don’t want to lose any more people in my family, neighborhood, country, and continent—or anywhere in the world—because of TB. I want more and more people to learn about TB, know how to treat TB, care for those living with TB and know how to end TB. Because all of us need to be resistance fighters.

Learn more at AntimicrobialResistanceFighters.org